DETAILED ACTION

1. This communication is responsive to the Amendment filed May 21, 2007.
2. Claims 1-32 are pending in this application. Claims 1 and 17 are independent claims. Claims 1, 4-8, 13, 17, 19-24 and 29 were amended. This action is made Final.
3. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.
5. Claims 1-5 and 17-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wynn et al. (US Patent No.: 6,667,751) in view of Morgenthaler et al. (US Pub No.: 2002/0032677).

As to claim 1, Wynn discloses, method of capturing Internet Web screens (see col., 3 lines, 11-14 and Figure 3), comprising:

  - a. providing a browser plug-in program with a graphical user interface (see col., 3 lines, 11-12 and col. 7 line 64-65);
  - b. using a standard browsers history of universal resource locator addresses as source of the browser plug-in program (see col., 4 lines, 22-24)

Art Unit: 2174

c. creating screen shots from the standard browsers history of the most recently viewed Internet Web screens (see col., 10 line, 67);

However Wynn does not disclose enabling searching of data associated with the screen shots.

Morgenthaler from the same field of endeavor disclose enabling searching of data associated with the screen shots (see abstract, paragraph [0009] and [0049]).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify Wynn's web browser history viewer at the time of the invention was made with searchable graphical database of static homepage screen shots as presented by Morgenthaler.

The motivation to combine to provide a method creating a searchable graphical database and presenting search query results in a graphical format that is viewed as a slide show.

Wynn further does not disclose enabling and viewing of the screen shots within a screen shot file.

Morgenthaler from the same field of endeavor disclose enabling and viewing of the screen shots within a screen shot file (see paragraph [0051] and Figure 14)).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the modified Wynn's web browser history viewer at the time of the invention was made with viewing of the screen shot as presented by Morgenthaler.

The motivation to combine to provide an improved method of presenting information and advertisements on the Internet, thereby enhancing Internet users' experiences through process streamlining and removal of obtrusive Internet subject matter.

Wynn further does not disclose providing function for the editing have said screen shots into common formats that can produce presentations.

Morgenthaler from the same field of endeavor disclose providing function for the editing have said screen shots into common formats that can produce presentations (see paragraph [0051]).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the modified Wynn's web browser history viewer at the time of the invention was made with editing of screen shot and converting the screen shot into a compressible file as presented by Morgenthaler.

The motivation to combine to provide to provide a method of editing and compressing captured website homepage images.

As to claim 2, Wynn discloses, wherein said browser plug-in program can be written for any standard browsers (see col., 6 lines, 8-9) and Figure 3 (element 31)).

As to claim 3, Wynn discloses, wherein said browser plug-in program creates a graphical user interface window from which all functions are executed (see col., 3, line, 1-4 and Figure 3).

As to claim 4, Wynn discloses, wherein said plug-in program creates a screen shot of each said universal resource locator addresses using said graphical user interface to present to a user (see col., 10, lines, 64-67).

As to claim 5, Wynn discloses, wherein the data associated with the screen shots comprises universal resource locator address and text contained within said screen shots (see col., 10 lines, 64-67 and Figure 13 (element 1300)).

Art Unit: 2174

6. Claims 17-21, are similar in scope to claims 1-5, and are therefore rejected under similar rationale.

7. Claims 6-16 and 22-32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wynn et al. (US Patent No.: 6,667,751) in view of Morgenthaler et al. (US Pub No.: 2002/0032677) and in further in view of Chailleux (US Pub No.: 2005/0278629).

As to claim 6, Wynn does not disclose wherein said plugin program provides function to relocate said screen shots into a different sequence for developing a presentation.

Chailleux from the same field of endeavor disclose wherein said plugin program provides function to relocate said screen shots into a different sequence for developing a presentation (see paragraph [0046] and [0072]).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the modified Wynn's web browser history viewer at the time of the invention was made with manipulation of the screenshots as presented by Chailleux.

The motivation to combine is to provide a product that allows an author to easily create presentations that are dynamic, and effective, in presenting information, such as the operation of a computer application program.

As to claim 7, Wynn does not disclose wherein function is provided to edit text within each said screen shot.

Chailleux from the same field of endeavor discloses, wherein function is provided to edit text within each said screen shot (see paragraph [0072]).

Art Unit: 2174

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the modified Wynn's web browser history viewer at the time of the invention was made with manipulation of the screenshots as presented by Chailleux.

The motivation to combine allows different ads to be inserted into the presentation, tailoring ads to the viewer.

As to claim 8, Wynn does not disclose wherein function is provided to edit all graphics within each said screen shot.

Chailleux from the same field of endeavor discloses, wherein function is provided to edit all graphics within each said screen shot (see paragraph [0072]).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the modified Wynn's web browser history viewer at the time of the invention was made with manipulate the screenshots as presented by Chailleux.

The motivation to combine allows different ads to be inserted into the presentation, tailoring ads to the viewer.

As to claim 9, Wynn discloses wherein hyperlinks are preserved in each said screen shot to allow them to work as originally created (see Figure 5 (element 51)).

As to claim 10, Wynn discloses, wherein a new hyperlink is created and placed at the bottom of each said screen shot to enable a user to click on it and be able to return to a calling screen (see col., 2 lines, 35-60).

As to claim 11, Wynn does not disclose wherein said screen shots can be edited and placed into separate files for development of a presentation (see paragraph [0051]).

Morgenthaler from the same field of endeavor disclose wherein said screen shots can be edited and placed into separate files for development of a presentation (see paragraph [0051])).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the modified Wynn's web browser history viewer at the time of the invention was made with temporary database that transforms and edits as presented by Morgenthaler.

The motivation to combine to provide to provide a method of editing and compressing captured website homepage images.

As to claim 12, Wynn discloses, wherein said files can be saved and provide an archive of an Internet Web session (see, Figure 9 (element 96).

As to claim 13, Wynn does not disclose wherein said presentation can be shown as a set of slides by using a slide show function provided in said plugin program.

Morgenthaler from the same field of endeavor disclose wherein said presentation can be shown as a set of slides by using a slide show function provided in said plugin program (example slide show, see Figure 6).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the modified Wynn's web browser history viewer at the time of the invention was made with slide show as presented by Morgenthaler.

The motivation to combine to provide a method for rapidly displaying database graphical queries in a sequential or slide show format for users.

As to claim 14, Wynn does not disclose wherein said screen shot file can be saved and shared on a network for common access to said screen shots.

Art Unit: 2174

Chailleux from the same field of endeavor disclose wherein said screen shot file can be saved and shared on a network for common access to said screen shots (see paragraph [0099] and Figure 2C).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the modified Wynn's web browser history viewer at the time of the invention was made with played back presentation on computer connected to a local area network as presented by Chailleux.

The motivation to combine to provide a product that allows the creation of effective and efficient presentation of application programs, operating systems, utilities, and other computer information in a simple way.

As to claim 15, Wynn discloses wherein hyperlinks contained in said screen shots are saved (see col., 6 lines, 29-31).

As to claim 16, Wynn discloses wherein a new hyperlink to link back to said Internet Web screen that it was called from is created (see col., 2 lines, 48-60).

8. Claims 22-32, are similar in scope to claims 6-16, and are therefore rejected under similar rationale.

Response to Arguments

9. Applicant's arguments with respect to the amended claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

10. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP

§ 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
